

If you're thinking about switching health insurance funds...

think about switching to Medibank, it's easy!

Did you know you may be able to transfer to Medibank and immediately be covered for services under your new cover if you were covered for those services by your previous fund?

And the good news is - you won't have to worry about serving your waiting periods again, provided you take out an equivalent cover and join Medibank within two months of the date you were paid up to with your previous fund.

Let's break this down further

Should your previous cover be considered by Medibank to be a lower level of cover than the one you are switching to, then waiting periods may apply for some services on your new Medibank cover.

If your previous cover was a higher level of cover than the one you are switching to, there's a chance there will be no waiting periods to serve, if you served all your waiting periods on your previous cover.

You can make the switch to Medibank in two easy steps:

Firstly, choose the Medibank health cover that's right for you. Our health cover selector will recommend a cover based on your needs - then join online, or call 132 331.

Secondly, make sure to contact your previous fund to cancel your cover, including any direct debits you may have set up.
